APSIPA One-Page Papers Guideline

1. Definition and Objective
a. "One-page papers" is one category of research papers submitted to the APSIPA-ASC.
b. The One-page papers must be written in the APSIPA-ASC paper format within one page.
c. The objective of the one-page papers is to provide a stage for free discussion among not only students but also researchers.

2. Presentation and Publication
a. The One-page papers are presented in a poster session at the APSIA-ASC in general, but a part of them may be assigned to an oral session by the technical program committee.
b. The One-page papers are NOT indexed in any databases.
c. The organizing committee and technical program committee may consider and decide to publish one-page papers in the APSIPA-ASC proceedings.

3. Submission and Review Process
a. The submission deadline is in two weeks after the notification of regular papers, and the notification is in two weeks after the submission.
b. All one-page papers are reviewed by the technical program committee.
c. The technical program committee screens the scientific validity in all papers, and may reject non-scientific papers.

4. Registration
All one-page papers must be registered by the same conditions with regular papers.